HOW TO GET TO BOQUEIXÓN

It is very easy to get to Boqueixón and tour around its parishes if we take Santiago as reference. The road N-525 Santiago-Ourense leads to Boqueixón in scarcely 8 kilometres, entering by A Susana and passing through the parishes of Sergude and Lestedo. A Susana also connects to the AC-960, which leads to the River Ulla at Ledesma through most of the parishes of Boqueixón. Furthermore, you can also travel from Touro or Ponte Ulla taking the AC-940, or from Sar taking the AC-961. If you are taking the road Lugo-Santiago near Lavacolla airport, you can also get to Boqueixón by taking a local road which goes through the northern parishes of Boqueixón.

WHAT TO SEE

Each of the fourteen parishes has beautiful places that we invite you to discover.

Loureda: viewpoint at Monte Castelo and parish church

Gastrar: recreational area, Interpretation Centre of water mills and ancient settlement

Vigo: waterfall

Lamas: cruceiro* and parish church

Boqueixón: parish church

Codeso: natural area of the Chapel of San Paio, with watermills and a waterfall

Donas: viewpoint over Gundián bridge, waterfall and "burga" (medicinal waters)

Sucira: recreational area at the river Ulla

Ledesma: recreational area on the Gres Islands and an old romanesque bridge of nine arches

Oural: parish church and chapel of Castro

Pousada: the Chapel of Nosa Señora da Fonte

A Granxa: the church of San Lourenzo and Pico Sacro

Lestedo: Pico Sacro and Interpretation centre, waterfall of Ramil, church of Santa María de Lestedo and a shopping area

Sergude: the Chapel of San Bieito de Rodiño

PICO SACRO

This mountain is situated next to Santiago de Compostela, and is one of the most famous and legendary mountains in Galicia. It's a source of innumerable legends and popular stories. The legend of Queen Lupa, contained in the Codex Calixtinus, narrates the transfer of the Apostle Santiago's body and the mythical events that took place on the summit of this sacred peak.

Its height of almost 600 meters, two caves of crystallized quartz and a great gap at the top called "street of Queen Lupa", make an excursion to the summit a great experience.

Pico Sacro also hides the remains of a medieval fortress and the architectural treasures of the Chapel of San Sebastián, which have their origins in a former monastery of the year 912.
